DR. A. P. LUCKHURST—Dear Sir: Your ointment for the cure of scrofulous tumor has the fairest effect, and consider it promises good to me, although we cure has for months been pronounced incurable, and I had accepted all other modes of treatment without the least benefit. My case was so chronic and troublesome, that in getting a few of the syringe into the veins of your ointment on more daily estimate. For years I had been afflicted with a constant cold in the head, occasioning an swelling so as to necessitate me to keep my mouth open during sleep, latterly the discharge became so offensive and impeded, in my nose to such an extent that it required the greatest exertion to expel them, sometimes these accumulations would get in my throat causing me to vomit and seldom ever, to the best to relieve myself. My breath was offensive, my memory became impaired, Dizziness and light headache, made day appearance, and of late symptoms of paralysis stepped in, and when I placed myself under your care the side of my head was badly affected by this dread disease. My general health suffered also, there was a constant tired, drowsy and indifferent feeling, with no energy to move or act, felt as tired on rising in the morning as I did on going to bed, my appetite was capricious and my digestion worse in this condition I placed myself under your care, and am happy to state that all these disagreeable symptoms have entirely left me, and I once more enjoy the benefits of good health.

By giving this publicity you will benefit others similarly afflicted, and oblige me.

NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH

A little girl named Sarah Gallup, residing at Bridgeport, Conn., while attempting to step from a horse boat at Bridgeport, New Haven, Thursday morning, slipped, and fell into the river, and was drowned. The body was recovered about noon.

By a mistake of an apothecary's clerk in Philadelphia, strychnine was put into pills instead of camphorine, on Tuesday last, instead of the latter, resulting in the upset of a dose of pills, which were taken by Mrs. Harriet Hunter, of Camden, N. J., causing her death on Thursday morning. Coroner Taylor investigated the case.

An Havana letter states that on the 20th the captain general received instructions from the Provisional government to inaugurate in Cuba such reforms as had been adopted in Spain. Lemonade is to be given to the people as soon as possible. Numerous arrests are being made, the persons in most cases being suspected of the revolutionary movement. It is also stated that Serrano will immediately follow the island for New York. The report of the death of the Duke of Montpensier in the insurgent ranks is unconfirmed. They are said to number five thousand men, and are reported to be in possession of ammunition with the United States.

It is rumored that Wormuth and Baldwin fought a battle early on the morning of election day, in Hudson county, New York, there being bad blood between the parties, and a fight commenced. Wormuth had to Baldwin a bloody face, nothing his new coats from an early hour in the morning. Both parties were after by a body of police and shortly after were on friendly terms and went down the river together.

W. W. Corcoran's case until to be worth $20,000,000 was sworn to by Judge Fleming, in New York, on Thursday, to save monies in the possession of the executors of the late W. W. Corcoran, until a suit is brought against the estate by the heirs, which is expected to be done in the course of a few days.

In the supreme court of the district of Columbia yesterday, the case of John D. Sickles was called up, the motion being to dismiss the appeal of the district attorney from the decision of Judge Wylie, in the Criminal Court, suspending the grand jury and quashing certain indictments found by them. Ex-Gen. Sickles, Mr. Ould, Mr. Wilson and Mr. White, manifested the appeal on behalf of the defendant, and Mr. Bradley, the attorney, argued in favor of the motion. Decision was reserved until to-day.

The case of Saml. B. Rosenberg, charged with naturalization frauds, was up before Judge Blatchford yesterday, and after some discussion between counsel, the prisoner was bailed in the sum of $5,000, and ordered to be in court to appear in the morning.

The case of John B. Wilkinson, charged with perjury in the second Internal Revenue prosecution against Rollins and Chamberlain, now pending before Internal Revenue officers, came up yesterday before United States Commissioner Osborne. Counsel for Wilkinson was examined, and decided to refer the issue of the warrants in the Rollins conspiracy case to Monsieur's affidavit. Wilkinson was then discharged from the charge, on the ground that the evidence was not sufficient to hold him.

One of the immense strikes of the shoeing that commencing in Brooklyn by journeymen sewing, several workingmen were injured, and a few arrests made.

A fire at Grove Mass., Thursday night, destroyed a large building occupied by A. G. Cook, manufacturer of grain bags, and the property of Silas Cook, of Millville. Loss $100,000; partly insured.

An attempt of the American Bible Society to get a Bible into every family in the United States, Territories, and Indian nations.

A clearing house organization of fifty banks in Philadelphia, commenced business on the 2d inst.

In the case of Bowers charged with murder in Madison for trouble in the Polish Jew organization, and tried by Commissioner Pierrepont, the jury disagreed, and were discharged from the case. The prosecuting counsel, Commissioner Osborne, and counsel for the defense, Judge Russell. The latter has refused to act in the case, and the prisoner will have to be tried by another counsel or in consequence.

A Hong Kong letter of September 21th states that the Chinese and seventeen children were buried to death in a large fire in Canton, on September 9th, on the 5th for killing a Chinese soldier who refused to have his selling liquor to his men. The fire was extraordinary, several squares being destroyed, including numerous temples, and the town of Shamin.

Democrats Rolling and Coming.

The Democratic journals and politicians of the North are doing up their greatest rolling and coming about for days. The most influential papers this morning have articles very complimentary of him, and the Evening Express, of this city, has announced that the party generally will henceforth follow politics. It is also noticed that the original simon pure Jackson Democratic Law Association, at a meeting last night, decided to call a meeting of the Democracy of Philadelphia, to be held at the new Fellowship Hall, and one member made the suggestion, formally to-day, about going over to the Republicans, while the President himself defended one of the leading members of the Republican meeting on Wednesday. A serious suggestion was finally made that it would be unnecessary to call a meeting for the nomination to-morrow night, and that the Democratic party could go over in a body and nominate Grant. The Democratic party could go over in a body and nominate Grant. The Democratic party could go over in a body and nominate Grant.

Speech of General Dent.

Gen. Dent, for the staff in his reply this afternoon, to the gentlemen who called, said: "Knowing how much I am indebted to the President, he has not the least reason to be glad and rejoice with you over the result of the election, a result meeting as we did the wishes of an overwhelming majority of the loyal people of the country. I am proud of the fact that I am a member of the President's staff, and I am glad that he is honored by so many, though I don't think that he will allow himself to be thus driven out of office

The Daily Commercial.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 7, 1868.

The official majority for Grover in Wayne county is 10,026, the whole number of votes polled being 40,826, an increase over the October poll of 4,000.

The Union League, New York, have fallen asleep preliminary to swimming Bowman's election. There is no appreciable majority strong enough itself to be evident enough; but the undertaking to manufacture the election is not to be determined on Sunday. It would be almost endless, and is not likely to be attempted.

The financial ebbs in New York continues with ever increasing stringency, and is rapidly extending to the whole country. An army of speculators, and, no doubt, many honest men besides, have already been swept before the devastating financial tide, for which there really appears to exist no adequate cause. The interposition of the government is invoked to stay its further progress.

[illegible]

It can safely be said that Gen. Grant is neither a fool nor a knave. Nobody, not even Wendell Phillips, has ever said anything that presupposes that he is either. But Secretaries Welles and those Democratic leaders and journals who have already begun to praise, in the hope of drawing him away, suppose that he is one or the other. Apart from the fact that an instinct of Jacksonism is the same guarantee as to much as, in the course of events, would seem to be possible, now, of all men that live, in the end it has to be ratified to his honor. The Democratic leaders speak their minds rash. If they were in time to withdraw from public observation for a while at least.

Horace Greeley evidently regards himself in the midst of the Democratic party now and he is not far wrong. Having struck an attitude, he coolly as follows:

[illegible]

Ben Butler left himself out after this fashion somehow, there is no knowing what would have happened. By the way, we congratulate the Secretaries of the Democratic party on having such leaders.

The Democratic platform was devised to catch votes in the West, where, it was said, the people were satisfied with the greenback and repudiation heresy. Mr. Pendleton presented a patent for running a platform on for claimed everybody in the West was anxious to shout, and which he assured us, surely certain the whole country would be swept. This was a libel on the West, as the majorities show. The Pendleton planks were rotten from the first. The greenback theory had a damaging effect on the party. In supposing that the body of voters were so demoralized as themselves on the question of the finances the Democratic leaders committed a fatal mistake. They probably are not. On the financial question the people would be ungrateful. To be against everything that savors of finance, and in favor of paying everything squarely, without equivocation—and it is against the interests of the people for the volume of the currency to be the sole use of the paper that represents it—and others who have been misled by their leaders will join the people on examination.

Pendleton's prevailing error was in the [illegible] of Germany when [illegible] doing precisely the same thing as [illegible] the same views he [illegible] to convey afterwards. Results [illegible] the agent made all social independence [illegible] more abundant. The author of "The Bivouac of the Dead" must greet the framework of her present and immediate [illegible] from a new sense of things. She [illegible] a correspondent has to say about the good results already accomplished in the [illegible].

[illegible] Pendleton [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] Democratic [illegible] Ohio [illegible] Democratic [illegible] Pennsylvania system.

The increase in the number of prisoners, in the ratio of increased population—or as the result of the advance of our continuous [illegible] renders it absolutely necessary that enlarged accommodations should be secured immediately. With over five hundred inmates in our Penitentiary, while we are but three hundred cells, of course [illegible] of military confinement is a mere [illegible] mockery. We have all that is [illegible] and horrible without the possibility of obtaining the advantages claimed for the system. It is not our purpose now to go into details of the system. It is [illegible] however, that we must have [illegible] accommodations. It is this absolute necessity which has led the Legislature to authorize the Governor to appoint this commission. Before obtaining either of the Penitentiaries now in operation, or building another on the same plan, the Legislature, most wisely, have determined to know more on the subject. The report of these gentlemen will doubtless have a most potent influence in the decision of the question, as to where and on what plan we shall erect another prison or enlarge the present one.

The main question—the one which lies at the very threshold, is that at the head of the article, Reformation or Punishment? Have we really any right to punish, pure and simple? As mere punishment, this right is generally taken for granted. It never is the one right and our duty, then let us do so for surely human ingenuity could hardly invent something more severe. But if reformation, the restoring of a human being to his family and society in his own right, a better and a more useful man, be the true object, then is the open door even to him the truest economizing and guardianship of the public treasury. The Allentown [illegible] option is a grave failure and like [illegible] under the best of it. If our Philadelphia friends are satisfied let us of the West at least say something different. We would especially urge upon the Commission the importance of looking very carefully into the facts of the Ohio Reform School, near Lancaster, Ohio, and of the system which is operating on the people of that State to establish an institution of some what similar character for young men convicted of crime, and for those convicted for the first time, especially where there are mitigating circumstances. A visit to this Lancaster institution, in an unprejudiced state of mind, cannot fail to make a deep impression as to its value and success. Reformation, we are not sure is entirely [illegible] but we are sure punishment, pure and simple, is not. Let us have the truth. The truth of the matter is, we are inclined to be partial to Reform. Russia's Stronghay for the Russian is the infancy we never been forgotten. There is the secret of the whole business. But it must be confessed that the Englishman did not sell a tithe of the truth. The obscenity of the language common in Russian prisons is only equalled in the contempt in the lowest [illegible] of infancy and vice. When assembled as a court gave officers of the army confusion and most of each are all united with the same detestable vice. These things never get into print on our side of the water, but they are attested by every one who has lived among the Russians, and by Russians themselves. Americans only acquire from the French and English. We have yet to hear of one who copied from the Russians.

The Philadelphia Bulletin advocates the claim of Gen. Geo. G. Meade for the seat in the United States Senate now held by Mr. Buckalew, whose term will expire on the 4th of next March. The friends of Gen. Meade, of course, and the unfortunate are proposing to bring him forward as a candidate.

SMALL NOTES.

The new Captain General of Cuba will find his position a difficult one. There is a settled purpose on the part of the Democratic element to precipitate a revolution in the affairs of the Island, which, added to the misunderstanding from of the insurrection in the interior, will render the duties of the new Captain General sufficiently responsible and arduous. It is suggested that the influence of advent'rers from the Southern States will operate against the plans of the Provisional Government. At least it will require a firm hand, and abundance of tact to suppress the measures which Lersundi condemned would not his ability. It remains to be seen whether Dulce is more able than the retiring officer.

The World has given up the business of figuring altogether and takes to the more comfortable and congenial employment of conjecturing itself. Well, when a man has no one to share bonds with, and nothing particularly agreeable to communicate, he should be permitted the privilege of shaking hands with himself, congratulating himself and keeping up the forms of social intercourse and good feeling at least. Otherwise the World would get out of practice before it would find any real evidence upon which to frame a congratulation.

A New York paper states that last year two million dollars was invested in one hundred and twenty-one houses in that city, and adds that in Brooklyn alone about two thousand houses were erected in the same time. That is very nearly the proportion of new buildings erected in Pittsburgh, and will be found in all the principal cities. Next year will be more prosperous, and we imagine that death must break; if we are not mistaken. Still we imagine more, and whosoever will invest capital in this vicinity in enterprising, convenient houses, fit for a Christian to live in, and built with some regard to decency and a decent love of health, will realize largely out of the investment. We hope to see a thousand more good dwelling houses to render us comfortable, and an approach to room enough.

The fact has been established by General Grant—the only official biographer of Grant, that the latter is not of Scotch extraction. A correspondent of the Herald, who is evidently versed in the heraldic emblems of the great north counties, reproduces the emblems of the Grant family.

[illegible] the seventeenth century, [illegible] the Grants of all the clan, appointed [illegible] Grant, of Grant, as their chief, and had [illegible] Grant, of Grant, as their chief, and had [illegible] Grant, of Grant, as their chief, and had

CITY MATTERS.

The Fine Stock of Woollens and Gent's Furnishing Goods

Will be found at Wasse, H. Oppenheimer & Co.'s, 68 Wood street. Fitting gentlemen have facilities for procuring the very best goods in the New York market. They are strictly first-class fashionable tailors. A fine assortment out of stock, and orders filled in short notice. Those who appreciate a superior article of dress goods can easily find everything they need, and the prices will be found reasonable. Give them an opportunity to show the quality of their goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

The Ladies Fair Excitement.

We do not wonder that there should be so much excitement among the ladies on the subject of Furs. Fashion is constantly getting more becoming and comfortable in her dictates from cold or genial weather. The fashion becoming universal, both in Europe and this country, ladies should be very careful in buying their furs, and not be deceived by the glitter and low prices that have been made popular by the auction system. Furs are very high this season, and the prices will be higher and higher during the winter. In order to get the genuine article, and that which will wear well, ladies should go to the old reliable house of Charles Horne, in the basement of the Diamond, and walked up Fifth avenue, where he has been for many years, and is still located, however, in the building which was at one time used by the Intelligencer office, and will offer to the ladies the largest and best assortment of furs ever offered in this city, and at prices that will astonish them. Mr. Horne has appointed a regular day for the exhibition of his stock of furs, which will be next Monday, the 9th inst. The ladies are invited to call and examine the goods, and they will find that the prices will be very low. Those who appreciate a superior article of dress goods are invited to call.
